SA rolls up sleeves for COVID-19 vaccination

President Cyril Ramaphosa was one of the first South Africans to receive the Johnson & Johnson (J&J) COVID-19 vaccine.

Allison Cooper

President Cyril Ramaphosa and Health Minister Dr Zweli Mkhize recently led the nation by example when they launched South Africa's mass Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19) vaccination programme. They joined the first healthcare workers in the country to be vaccinated.

The President demonstrated his confidence in the Johnson & Johnson (J&J) COVID-19 vaccine and helped to allay people's fears when he was vaccinated against the virus at the Khayelitsha District Hospital in the Western Cape.

The first batch of J&J vaccines arrived in the country on 16 February.

"It gives me great pleasure to announce that the first batch of 80 000 doses of the J&J vaccine is being prepared for distribution across South Africa with immediate effect," the President says.

"As this batch has already been approved by the South African Health Products Regulatory Authority, these vaccines will be rapidly dispatched to all provinces," he added.

Most vaccination centres were ready to begin the vaccination programme from 17 February.

The President says he is pleased that the vaccination programme commenced in mid-February, as was previously announced by government.

This feat was realised even though South Africa's roll-out of the AstraZeneca vaccine that arrived on 1 February, had to be suspended as they are not effective against the 501Y.V2 virus variant that is dominant in the country.

Minister Mkhize says the Astra-Zeneca vaccines will be distributed to countries that do not have the 501Y.V2 virus variant. "There will, therefore, be no wasteful expenditure," he confirmed.

"I would like to congratulate the Vaccine Inter-Ministerial Committee, the Ministerial Advisory Committee on Vaccines, Minister Mkhize and his team, and the Medical Research Council for responding so rapidly and effectively to this challenge," the President says.

Nurse Zoliswa Gidi-Dyosi will go down in history as South Africa's first healthcare worker to receive the vaccine. To date, over 380 000 healthcare workers have registered to be vaccinated.

Kgaogelo Letsebe

There is no denying there is a certain glamour to gambling. Yet, for someone suffering from a gambling addiction, life is far from glamorous.

"It started innocently, taking a chance on the slot machines.

This is according to Lesego Kwanini (34), a marketing consultant from Alexandra, who started gambling in 2010 to escape the stress of her relationship and financial situation.

"It started innocently, taking a chance on the slot machines.

It was only a matter of time before those 'friends' turned into enemies. Running out of money to support her gambling habit, Kwanini found herself in debt and turned to loan sharks, who she could not pay back. "I was on the verge of suicide," she admits.

While at a casino, Kwanini saw a pamphlet about the South African Responsible Gambling Foundation's (SARGF) treatment programme for problem gamblers. She attended the foundation's free outpatient counselling sessions for three months. "It was hard. There were many times I felt like gambling, but I stayed strong," she says.

Betting on games of chance or horses is harmless fun for most people but, when people lose control over their gambling habit, it can be as addictive and destructive as using drugs, says Dr West.

He advises regular gamblers to ask themselves the following questions:

- Do you hide the extent of your gambling?
- Do you gamble to escape
