Mahlangu showcases Ndebele heritage to the world

DESPITE HAVING no formal education, iconic Ndebele artist Esther Mahlangu has gained international fame, thanks to the passion she has for her heritage.

More Matshediso

Dr Esther Mahlangu (82) is the perfect embodiment of what can be achieved by embracing your heritage.

Mahlangu is known all over the world as the South African artist from the Ndebele nation who uses her contemporary painting style to represent amaNdebele.

Her work has been featured by various local and international brands such as BMW, Honda, British Airways, Albany and Tastic rice, to mention a few. It has also been showcased in many art exhibitions across the globe.

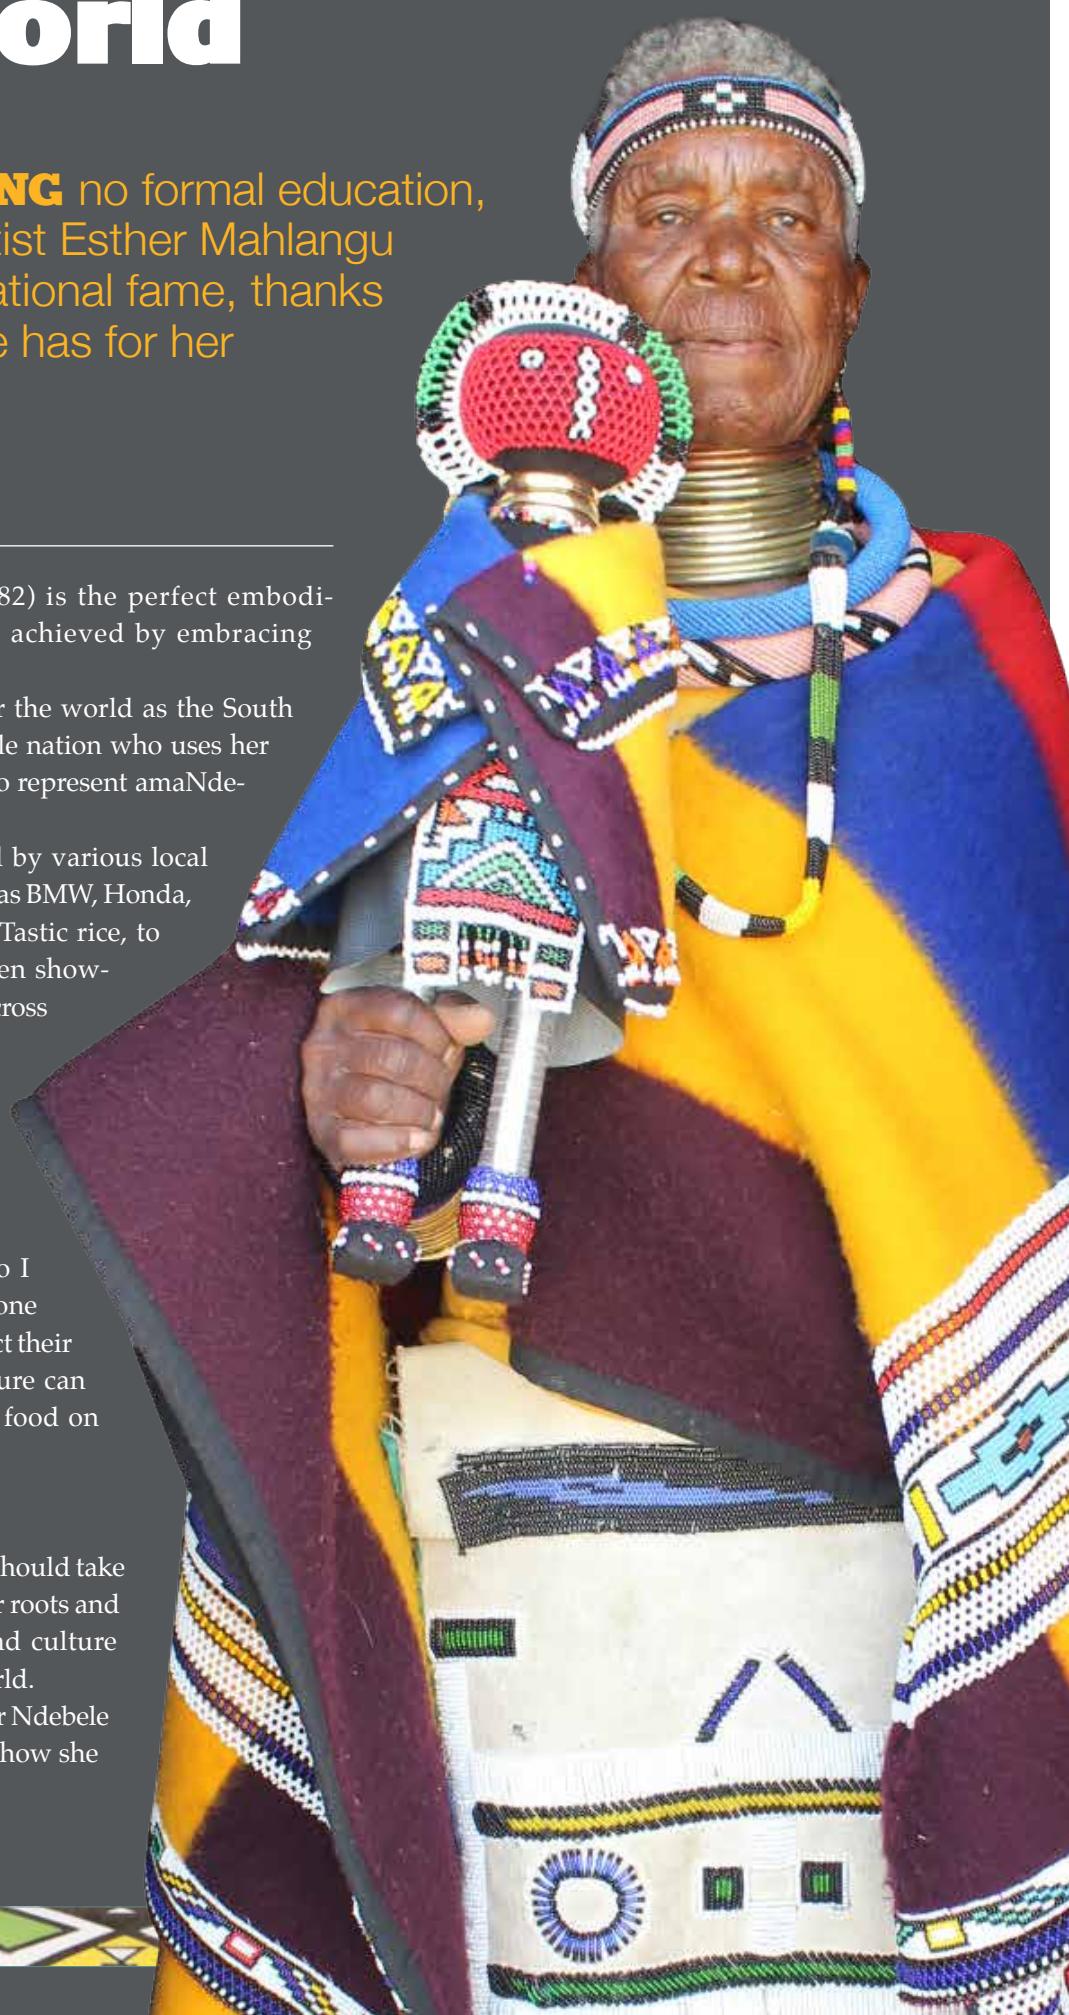

Vuk'uzenzele visited her home near Mthambothini in Mpumalanga to speak to her about the importance of embracing heritage and culture.

"My heritage is part of who I am. It is important for everyone to love who they are and respect their culture. Respecting your culture can take you places and also put food on your table," she said.

Youth and heritage

Mahlangu said young people should take it from her that sticking to their roots and embracing their traditions and culture could be their ticket to the world.

She has proudly embraced her Ndebele culture throughout her life, in how she

Closed clinic transformed into pre-school

Dale Hes

The old Newlands Clinic in Cape Town has been given a new lease on life, after being converted into a pre-primary school that caters to 125 children between the ages of three and six.

The Western Cape Government saw the opportunity to give the children of Barkly House Pre-Primary School a better learning environment, converting the closed-down Newlands Clinic into new premises for a school, at a cost of R10.2 million.

Facilities at the converted and modernised new building include five classrooms, a science block, a music room and aftercare facilities.

The Western Cape Department of Transport and Public Works called on award-winning female architect Rahdia Katieb Parker to lead the transformation.

Parker is the co-founder of Archi.CapeTown, a 100 percent black and female owned company which focuses on community and education projects.

Parker said that the project was based around giving children a positive first experience of school.

"It was important that, during the design of Barkly House, positive experiences were established, to give children a sense of safety, freedom, exploration and connection to landscape," said Parker.

"The school was designed to promote good mental, physical and emotional wellbeing while learning. I believe that the school sets new standards for learning that the Department of Education can be proud to promote," Parker added.

During the past years Parker has been closely involved with the education sector of the Western Cape. In 2012, she initiated a project to address overcrowding in schools. The project has since placed 950 schools in 200 locations around the province.

Barkly House Pre-Primary principal Jeni Reid, said that the new building has greatly improved the learning environment for the children.

"It has been wonderful to be a part of the process and we are loving the new environment. We have more space and better facilities. We have also been able to increase our pupil numbers from 75 to 125, and we already have a long waiting list for the future," said Reid. □

Birds eye view of Soweto for Tourists

WHEN INNOVATION meets excitement a lucrative aviation company takes to the skies.

More Matshediso

Wiseman Ntombela has a passion for Soweto's blue skies which has driven him to open his own tourism aviation company called Fly SA Wise.

Ntombela was concerned that tourists frequent Soweto a township in Gauteng, but never get to see the whole township only spending time on Vilakazi Street where the house of the late former President Mandela is situated.

He did research on how he could get visitors to see the whole township within a short space of time, and the only solution was a helicopter.

"I started having talks with helicopter and aviation companies and they agreed that this is a good idea," he said.

In 2016, Fly SA Wise became operational offering visitors a bird's view of the iconic township with a cost of R250 for a 15 minutes helicopter ride.

"We have different prices depending on the experience that the client requires. Apart from flying over Soweto, we also fly our clients to Kruger National Park and the Mandela Museum in the Eastern Cape," he added.

Over the years the company has expanded on services that it renders and it now flies clients to different places for breakfast and lunch.

The company has also collaborated with other companies that offer experiences such as air balloon, sky diving, and private game reserves.

In order to promote South Africa to the world, the company also uses technology to live-stream experiences of its clients, sharing this on different social media platforms. "This enables people in different countries to see what the tourists are experiencing in South Africa and in a way we are taking South Africa to the world," said Ntombela.

This company which has also created four permanent jobs and ten casual also won
